In the evening the sermon was on "The Judgment," from Hebrews i, 27.

Its prominent features of universality, individuality, solemnity, sorrow and gladness before the presence of the Lord Jesus Christ were freely and clearly described, and tenderly applied.

The sermon made a deep impression, and ten persons made confession of their faith in Christ, while others requested prayer.

The after-meeting is particularly interesting and helpful to both Christians and inquirers.

To-day at 4:30 o'clock, the Bible reading will be on "Working for Christ," and at 8 o'clock Mr. Whitewill preach on "Recognition in the Future Life," suggested by the sermon last night. The services are brief, and good results are being realized from them.

Harrison's Tour.

Harrison's Tour.

(Philadelphia Telegraph.)

The American people always like to come face to free with their Chief Magistrate. They do not in every case manifest special approval of his course. It is only occasionally that they exhibit enthusiastic feelings, but the simple announcement that the occupant for the time being of the Executive chair of the nation is coming is always sufficient to attract a multitude at any given point. It would be a good thing for the country if its Presidents traveled about more than they do. They should improve every opportunity of becoming personally acquainted with the people, and their tours of observation should not be confined to any section. They should make it their business to note the prevailing conditions amongst all classes of citizens, in order that they may have a comprehensive idea of the state of the nation. Mr. Harrison's trip will be the most notable one made by any President for several terms. It will be much longer, covering a vast stretch of country, nearly 10 000 miles in all. than that under-

The Nicaragua Canal Project.

The Nicaragna Canal Project.

A Mexican gentleman lately gave a bit of curious history with regard to the proposed Nicaragua canal. He said that in the early days of the Spanish occupation there was talk of a canal across the Isthinus, and a Spanish explorer named Gomara, in 1551, indicated the Nicaragua route as the most feasible between the two seas. The Spanish Government did not at the time give the matter attention, but in 1781, desiring quicker communication between the occans, sent out an officer named Galisteo to make a survey of three different routes, and among them that through Nicaragna. He also reported in favor of the latter, but Spain could not raise the funds for construction. In 1838 the route was again surveyed, this time by an Englishman named Bailey, who was employed by the State of Nicaragna, and again in 1851 by Colonel Childs for a company which proposed to undertake the canal. Nothing came of it, but in 1873 an officer of the United States navy made the surveys which resulted in the choice of the route by the company which is now engaged on the work of the canal,—Globe-Democrat.

A Cowardly Father.

A Cowardly Father.

CHRYENNE, Wr., April 15.—Frank McDermott and George Madden fought a duel Saturday in the Big Horn Basin. The former's wife left him after a tilt and went to Madden's place. McDermott, carrying a six-shooter and taking his five-year-old boy along, went after the woman. Madden came out with a rifle which he aimed at McDermott's head. McDermott raised his son to his breast and the ball struck the little fellow above the ear, glancest and landed in his father's face. McDermott fell, but fired three shots. The boy died within an hour, and the tather is fatally injured.

Ashtand, Pa., April 15.—By the shifting of the gear on the hoisting cage at Locust Gap collery this safternoon, John and Phenix Kerosky were perhaps fatally, and Thomas Farrel, Frank Stabl, Petty Duppy and Mathew Boniski seriously, injured. The men were riding up the slope, and when one hundred and fifty yards from the bottom the gearing shifted, precipitating the cage to the bottom. Marshal Wright, a pumpman, and John Stabl, father of Frederick Stabl, leaped from the cage as it descended and escaped with slight injuries.

A Son's Sudden Disappearance.

Caucago, Int., April 15.—On Friday John Fish, son of General Solicitor Fish, of the St Paul Railread, came down town with the intention of calling on his father. Since this time nothing has been seen or heard of him by any friends. He has been suffering with grip, and for a few days before his disappearance was very much depressed. He is twenty-one years old, six feet high fair complexion, with black hair and dark eyes, and weighs about 160 pounds.

The Garrick Arrives.

New York, April 15.—The steamship Garrick, from Santago, arrived at quarantue this evening with two cases of yellow-fever on board. Several of the crew had been sick with the disease, but had recovered before the vessel reached here. The Garrick will be at quarantine until the sourge is gotten rid of.

Pure Foods and Beverages.

Pure Foods and Beverages.

Inside of a week or perhaps ten days a new enterprise will be started here in Richmond and a good, pure article—the twin brother of food—will be confidently offered its citizens. The poet says that it was by the means of work only that the gods succeeded, and Lessing establishes the aphorism that "talent" means "work and will," with these two elements even the highest aims can be attained and the greatest difficulties overcome. He who attains an aim has conquered; he survives as the strongest and the fittest. On the product soon to be placed on this market there has been expended a degree of labor and thought and an ansount of money that fully justifies our belief that that which we now recommend will find a ready sale, and that because of its genuine excellence our future endeavors will be applicated. We have obtained our aim! We have produced a pure, wholesome beverage that has a right, and will have a place, in the home, and we are sure, will be welcomed as an agreeable companion to the cheese or round of beef. In first asking a trial and then judgment of the result of our enterprise, we desire to be understood as entirely ignoring price; our only shibboleth is quality! That test word will be carried aloft throughout the United States and Europe, even into the strongholds of the manufacturers there of celebrated beers.
